Kazan is the capital of the Republic of Tatarstan, an ancient city with a long history, located on the left Bank of the Volga river. There are several legends associated with the name of the city. According to the most common of them, Kazan comes from the Tatar word "Kazan" - cauldron. Legend has it that the city was founded at the place where water boiled in a cauldron dug into the ground without fire. The symbol of the city depicted on the coat of arms is the mythical dragon-like creature Zilant.

The richness of the Muslim religion strikes the imagination of even the most pampered people. This religion does not consist in a set of special books and attributes, it is a whole culture in which the place of men and women is clearly defined and their interaction is also spelled out in religious books. There are a lot of places in Kazan that are the keepers of this culture and visiting them you can get acquainted with the origins and subtleties of Islam.

Bilyarsk

Bilyarsk is a village in the Alekseyevsky district of the Republic of Tatarstan, founded in 1654. On the South-Eastern edge of the village is located Bilyar settlement—a medieval city in Volga Bulgaria (X-XIII century).

In Russian historical Chronicles, the city begins to be mentioned since 1164 (the Laurentian chronicle) under the name of the Great City. Since the XII century, it was the capital of Volga Bulgaria. The last mention of the Great city dates back to 1236, when the city was sacked and burned during the Mongol invasion.

The archaeological remains of the city-Bilyarsk settlement, are located on the South-Eastern outskirts of the village of Bilyarsk (including its South-Eastern half). Bilyarsk settlement is part of Bilyarsk state historical and archaeological and natural Museum-reserve. Bilyar state historical, archaeological and natural Museum-reserve is a Museum-reserve in the Alekseyevsky district of the Republic of Tatarstan. The reserve includes the historical and archaeological Museum, Bilyarskoye settlement, Balynguzskoye settlement, Gorkinskoye and Nikolsk-Baranskoye settlements, natural landscape and historical and cultural monuments, a cemetery with a chapel-crypt of the famous organic chemist A. M. Butlerov, the house-Museum of academician A. E. Arbuzov, the architectural and religious complex "Holy key".

WHAT we VISIT in BILYARSK: sightseeing tour of Bilyarsk, Holy spring, Historical and archaeological Museum a place of pilgrimage for Muslims As part of the Bilyar Museum-reserve, there are several museums: the historical and archaeological Museum, the Arbuzov house-Museum, and in the future we expect to open a historical and ethnographic Museum.

Bilyarsk tour

The basis for the creation of the archaeological Museum is a large number of unique items that were found in the course of archaeological research, started in 1967 under the leadership of A. H. Khalikov on the site of the capital of Volga Bulgaria - Bilyar. In the middle ages, the Great city of Bilyar was an administrative, economic, commercial and cultural center. Found items aArchaeology is displayed in the newly created Museum on the territory of the "Holy key". Among the exhibits you can see household items created by artisans: potters, metallurgists, glassblowers, bronzers, bone cutters and jewelers. Highly developed craft contributed to a wide trade. Preserved tools and samples of grain crops, which confirms the high development of agriculture. The Bilyar collections contain hundreds and thousands of items that reflect, as if in a mirror, the high culture of the ancient city's population.

The Bilyar settlement is still quite an impressive sight. Currently, you can see the fortifications, as well as the Foundation of the Cathedral mosque and the houses of the nobility.

Картина здания «Кремль» в Билэре после восстановления

Our region is the birthplace of the great chemical scientists A. M. Butlerov and A. E. Arbuzov. Talented scientists, founders of organic chemistry A. M. Butlerov and an outstanding scientist, founder of the scientific school of organophosphorus chemists A. E. Arbuzov made their small homeland and Russia famous all over the world with their discoveries and made an invaluable contribution to world science. The exposition of the Arbuzov house-Museum tells about their life and activities.

The pearl of the reserve is covered with legends "Holy Key", which is located three kilometers North-West of the village, in the forest, in the most beautiful place at the foot of the mountain "Khuzhalar Tyvy". According to scientists, there was a pagan sanctuary that functioned in the 9th-10th centuries. A spring that has become "sacred" due to its healing properties and location in a secluded place protected from cold winds by a mountain. Past century. Generations changed. But the tract "Holy key" has retained its glory.
